Defects in the Qurbaani Animal

Q: Will an animal afflicted with mange (a skin disease caused by parasitic mites causing severe itching, hair loss, and the formation of scabs and lesions) suffice for Qurbaani?

A: If the animal is strong it will suffice for Qurbaani. If the animal is extremely weak due to the mange, it will not suffice for Qurbaani.

Q: An animal which was free from any defect was purchased for Qurbaani. Later on its leg broke or some defect occurred which rendered it invalid for Qurbaani. Can such an animal be slaughtered for Qurbaani?

A: Such an animal cannot be slaughtered for Qurbaani.

Q: A poor person (upon whom Qurbaani was not waajib) purchased an animal free from any defect but later on its leg broke or some defect occurred, which rendered it invalid for Qurbaani. Can this person slaughter such an animal for Qurbaani?

A: The poor person can slaughter such an animal for Qurbaani.

Q: Can an animal whose eyesight is impaired be slaughtered for Qurbaani?

A: If more than one-third of the animal's eyesight is lost, it will not suffice for Qurbaani.

Q: If an animal's tail or ear is cut off, will it suffice for Qurbaani?

A: If more than one-third of the animal's tail or ear is cut off, it will not suffice.

Q: Can an animal which is lame in one leg be slaughtered for Qurbaani?

A: If it only walks on three legs and does not take support from the lame leg, then it will not suffice for Qurbaani. However if it takes support from the lame leg, it will suffice.

Q: Is it permissible to slaughter a frail animal for Qurbaani?

A: If it is extremely frail then it will not suffice for Qurbaani.

Q: Will a toothless animal suffice for Qurbaani?

A: If it does not have any teeth and is unable to graze, it will not suffice. However if it is able to graze it will suffice for Qurbaani.
